Our attorneys can keep you out of jail

Whatever crime you're accused of, whether it's DUI, domestic violence or narcotic offences, our network of experienced attorneys have an exceptional track record in helping clients escape conviction.

Successful cases have included:

- Charges against a registered nurse of DUI and assault and battery were reduced to disturbing the peace, with no charges brought against the nurse's license, thanks to the experience of our DUI attorney.
- A Public School Teacher faced assault and battery charges against their spouse. Our attorney's successful defense led to the case being dismissed, with all charges dropped in exchange for a ten week anger management course and counselling. No administrative action was taken against the Teacher's credentials, saving them their job.
- A Physician faced charges of addiction to prescription drugs and two cases of DUI, one of which involved an accident. Our attorney was able to keep the Physician out of jail and their sentence reduced to fines. Thanks to an alternative sentencing of five years medical probation and admittance to drug rehabilitation, his doctor's license was saved and he was able to continue practicing.

Assessing the severity of a criminal offence can be a complicated process. Our experienced attorneys can ensure that when accusations are made the law is properly understood, and incorrect charges are reduced, dismissed or the case expunged altogether.
