Driving the ball further and more accurately is something we try to improve upon our entire playing lives. It’s why we spend hours on the driving range and 100s or even 1000s of dollars on new clubs and lessons. But often without gaining a single yard.

However, recently I made a discovery that can change that.

To show you what I mean, I’ve got a golf driving quiz for you today. During this quiz I’m going to show you two images of a man driving off the tee. In one, he’s using a special secret to improve his power and technique. I want you to try and guess which image this is. Are you ready?

Okay here is image number one. Here is image number two. Okay one more time. image number one. image number two. I think you’ll agree he looks like he’s hitting the ball much harder and smoother in image two. Could you spot what he did? What was his secret? This was also an improvement he gained with less than a minute’s practice.

In this video I'm going to share with you exactly what the secret is. And show you how pro golfers and long drive champions use it to get 15 or even 20 more yards on every drive. And here's the best part. You can use it yourself to gain immediate improvements to your all round game.

This is the single biggest secret I use with my coaching students who want to improve their game literally overnight. It's a sure fire way to make your drives more powerful and accurate without spending a fortune on new clubs or even coaching lessons. For the last year I've witnessed players of all levels take advantage of this training technique to gain up to 20 yards on their drives and improve their all round game. In fact, it works so well that some call it cheating.

However I want everyone to benefit from it and for it to no longer be a secret. So I've created this presentation to share it with you so you can use it to dramatically improve your game and shred points from your handicap.

My name is Tom Celone. I'm the Director of Core 5 Personal Training, a world ranked professional power long drive golfer and a Championship wrestler. As an NFPT certified personal trainer, I specialize in helping players to improve their strength, flexibility and explosive power. Over the last few decades, I've helped thousands of people reach their potential and enjoy the game, and what I'm about to reveal in this video will help you rapidly become a better player too!

I've dedicated years of my entire adult life to helping people, including PGA players, celebrities and prominent political figures throughout the world to improve their game and reach their potential. And what I'm about to share with you today is what I feel may be my biggest breakthrough in strength and flexibility coaching to date.

Warning! Several of my fellow trainers are surprised I've released this video. They wonder why I would reveal this incredible trick to near instant improvements in your swing and all round game.

However I've decided to release this to the public for two reasons.

Number one - this is one of the single most effective ways for any player to immediately improve their swing. And it is not expensive, compared to the alternatives. I feel by sharing it; I can help thousands of players to feel more confident every time they step up to the tee, and that's what coaching is all about.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

Number two - I know that once you see just how well this swing training technique works you'll want to share it with other players at your local course that are struggling to gain 20 or just 10 yards on their drives. That's why I've spent a fair amount of my time putting this presentation together. So let's get started.

To begin with, I want to let you in on a coaching secret. You see what most players don't realize is that the solution to hitting the ball further is not spending a fortune on new clubs and lessons. Sure they can help. However, what will get you much more dramatic results is improving the EXPLOSIVE POWER with which you hit the ball.

Believe it or not, there is a way of improving your explosive power without having to spend hour after hour on the driving range, upgrading your entire set of clubs or spending a fortune on lessons. In fact, what I'm about to tell you can add 10, 15 or even 20 yards on every drive within a few minutes of practicing it.

Ironically, working on improving explosive power is something most golfers neglect. If you've done the same don't worry, it's not your fault. Most people never realize the importance of having explosive power. However it's not too late, whatever stage of your playing career you're at.

So why is explosive power so important?

As any pro or long drive champion will tell you, explosive power is the single most important requirement for hitting the ball further off the tee.

It sounds simple, yet gaining more explosive power is something players of all levels can struggle with their entire playing lives. But unless you can improve the speed and power with which you strike the ball, you will never be able to hit it further, no matter how much you spend on new clubs or how many hours you spend practicing on the driving range.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

Take another look at the images I showed you earlier. You can clearly see how much harder he's striking the ball in the second image even though he's only hitting it less than a minute after the previous one.

Now this is a technique I now teach to all of my students here at Superstition Mountain and Las Sendas Golf Courses, and the results have been INCREDIBLE. However, before I show you what this technique is, I just want to explain what training mistakes you may have been making to improve your drives up to now. And we're all guilty of them, as up until recently they were really you're only options.

Maybe you've used swing training aids in the past to try and increase the power of your drives? This includes weighted clubs and bags you attach to the end of the club to create resistance. However most don't really work because they don't apply resistance consistently across the length of the club. Typically, the weight is concentrated in the head, which means that any errors in your swing become more pronounced and ruin your driving accuracy. Weighted clubs can put a lot of strain on your back muscles too and risk an injury.

And that's why I'm so excited about this new invention. You see most swing trainers are only half solutions. Because they only target half the problem. Power. But in order to truly increase the distance of your drives, you have to go after the other half the problem too. Accuracy.

Accuracy is very difficult to train on its own. I know from firsthand experience how difficult it is to change the way in which you swing the club, particularly if you've been playing for a few years. It's tough changing the way you swing, no matter how many balls you hit on the driving range or lessons you have.

That's why most resistance training aids don't work. Because they don't help to improve your swing accuracy as well as your power. Whoever designed them was too focused on getting people to swing faster, which on its own can make your accuracy even worse.

You know it's funny even when you coach people every day, as I do, sometimes you don't realize the importance of something until it hits home personally. And that's exactly what happened to me. You see about a year ago a close friend from way back called Ted called me up and asked if I could give him some coaching to improve his drives

I have to admit I was surprised. Ted had always been a big hitter of the ball. He'd never asked for my help with any area of his game before and out of the blue he calls me to help improve one of the most important parts of the game - driving.

Ted was now aged 59, and had been playing golf for over 30 years. You'd think he was past the stage of being interested in learning new techniques. But he insisted, and told me how he'd been struggling nearly his entire career to drive long distances consistently and accurately. He said it was holding him back from improving the rest of his game and making a dent in his handicap.

"Is there anything you can do to help, Tom?" he said.

And so I kept a slot open in my calendar and invited Ted down to the fitness to see what I could do.

About a week later Ted showed up and I got him taking some practice swings so I could see where improvements could be made.

Immediately, I saw what he was talking about. He wasn't swinging it as fast as I knew he was capable of and he was pulling the club across slightly, which was a recipe for smashing the ball into hazards every time he teed off.

He looked at me with a despairing look in his face and again asked if there was anything I could do to help. And happily I said I had the perfect solution.

I then experienced one of those incredible moments as a coach when you make a sudden breakthrough in someone's game. Because what I did was ask Ted to practice with the revolutionary new swing trainer I've been referring to since the start of this video.

Just a few practice swings was all it took and Ted was immediately launching tee shots further than he ever thought possible and landing them with laser like accuracy onto the fairway.

So what was this incredible training aid that delivered such vast improvements in such little time?

Allow me to introduce you to the PowerChute.

The PowerChute is a revolutionary golf swing trainer that stimulates the fast twitch muscle you need to unleash explosive power. A few practice swings is all it takes and the PowerChute will PRIME your fast twitch muscles to EXPLODE when you strike the ball from the tee. The result is you get an extra 5 mph on your swing which translates into an extra 10, 15 or even 20 extra yards on your drive. You hit them more accurately too.

You may be wondering who developed the PowerChute and why? Well, the PowerChute was actually invented by me. DELETE [yself. you could call a golf engineer].

[Sowerwine is famous in golf coaching circles for creating the 'Slice Correction Trainer', which was voted Swing Trainer of the Year by Golf Digest]. - DELETE

I developed it using my knowledge of strength and flexibility training and competing in long drive championships to develop the PowerChute. I first developed it for competitors to warm up with at long drive competitions. In fact, prior champion Jason Zuback actually hailed the PowerChute as the secret weapon that helped him to victory.

The PowerChute proved to be so effective that I decided to make it available to players of all levels, so they can benefit from its unique approach to priming explosive power.

[When I first heard about the PowerChute and that other coaches were hailing it as one of the biggest breakthroughs in swing training, I knew I had to try it for myself.]

I've tried all manner of training aids and gadgets to help players improve their drive. Up until recently, nothing I've tried was able to work consistently. Too often they were just gimmicks to trick you into thinking that you're playing better. Well, that all changed when I started helping my students train with the The PowerChute.

Because the results I've seen achieved with it are something I didn't think was even possible. All it takes is a few practice swings and many of my students immediately added 10, 15 or even 20 yards to every drive.

It's been proven in third party testing too.

Test results by Trackman demonstrated an average gain of 21.4 yards from an average increase in speed of 8.4 mph. This was after only 6 swings with the PowerChute. EVERY SINGLE participant also demonstrated significant improvement after using it.

So how does it work?

And how does it improve accuracy as well as power?

A simple explanation is that when you take a practice swing, the resistance from the PowerChute forces you to apply more force. It's like priming your muscles ready to exert themselves with more force.

All it takes is a few practice swings and it literally 'preloads' your muscles with power so that when you remove the PowerChute and take a normal swing you naturally swing much faster, with more explosive power, and can watch your ball fly like a cruise missile 10, 15 or even 20 yards further than ever before.

A slightly more complicated explanation is that the PowerChute activates 'fast twitch' muscle, which you might not have been fully utilizing before. Throughout our bodies we have two types of muscles - slow twitch muscles and fast twitch.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

You use your slow twitch muscles for endurance, like for long distance running. Whereas our fast twitch muscles power sudden movements and give us explosive energy.

Golfers with explosive power to smash hail mary drives, like Bubba Watson, are able to do so because they know how to supercharge the fast twitch muscle throughout their body. And now you too can develop fast twitch muscle like the game's great long drivers, such as Bubba, Ben Hogan and Jack Nicklaus.

Normally, to get stronger fast twitch muscles you'd need to spend hours in the gym working out. This is due to the S A I D principle, which is one of the most important concepts in sports science. S A I D stands for Specific Adaptation to Imposed Demand. The way it works involves a highly complex series of changes to the body's physiology.

But in simple terms the S A I D principle is that when you apply stress to your body's muscles and joints they get stronger to compensate. The S A I D principle explains why tennis players have one arm larger than the other and why karate black belts can smash bricks with their bare hands.

The same principle applies to developing stronger fast twitch muscles for playing golf - the more stress you apply to your muscles, the stronger they'll get. So what's the best way of applying stress to the body?

If you spoke to a physical trainer, they'd tell you that to build stronger fast twitch muscles you need to be doing explosive exercises that put pressure on your body in short, sharp bursts, like box jumps, bouncing medicine balls or using heavy ropes.

But luckily for you, I'm a golf coach, not a fitness guru.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

If you're like me, spending dreary hours in the gym is not how you want to spend Saturday mornings when you could be on the course.

Thankfully, there's a way to supercharge your fast twitch muscles in minutes, without having to step foot in a gym or lift a single weight.

In fact, this is a training method you can practice on the course, on your own on the driving range or even in your back garden.
And that's to use the PowerChute!

Now, I know what you're thinking. Tom I've heard all these wild claims about training aids before, why is this one different.

Look, I get why you're skeptical. After all, the golf industry spends millions on clever advertising to convince us that buying new clubs and devices will transform our game.

So why should you believe me?

Firstly, as a professional golf coach, I wouldn't be recommending a product to you unless I'd seen it proven countless times before my own eyes.

Secondly, the PowerChute has been tested and proven to be effective at increasing explosive power by Trackman, a service used by club manufacturers, leading golf schools and even pro players to analyze the power of swings.

Trackman is a completely independant company and their data is recorded using the latest advanced camera and motion tracking technology. In other words, their findings can't be fudged or manipulated and are totally legit.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>
Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

In the tests conducted by Trackman participants were asked to drive the ball 6 times. They were then asked to take 6 practice swings with the PowerChute before driving the ball again.

Now, even I was astounded when I saw the results, because in the test every single participant increased their drive speed and distance. What was even more surprising was that they increased their drive distance by an average gain of 21.4 yards from an average increase in speed of 8.4 mph.

Remember, this was after only six swings with the PowerChute. Not six months at the gym pumping iron.

If this surprises you I can tell you that it shocked me too. I couldn't believe something so simple could have such a massive effect on your drive.

Now you may be wondering this all sounds too good to be true and whether the PowerChute will harm the accuracy of your swing, like with weighted clubs? Well, you may be amazed to hear that the PowerChute actually IMPROVES the quality of your swing motion.

How does it do this? By gently forcing your arms to swing through the optimal motion. The reason is because, unlike weighted clubs and other swing aids, the resistance is spread evenly across the whole length of the shaft club.

The PowerChute is the only golf aid that does this due to its patented double clip design. The consistent swing resistance also helps to prevent you from swinging in a way that takes the club outside of the ideal range of motion.

So if you have problems hooking it when you increase your swing speed, the PowerChute will direct your arms the way they need to swing, enabling you to cannon the ball down the fairway and land it with the precision of a laser guided missile exactly where you want it, every single time.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

Now you may be wondering whether it can work for you? You bet it can! Here's what some users of the PowerChute had to say...

Henry Young, a player in his sixties, has been using the PowerChute and he said, "I can't believe that feeling... I like it because what I'm feeling is that my body is starting to rotate better."

This view was shared by Dan Hearon, who said, "Your body just figures it out; your mind doesn't have to. I don't think I've ever felt that kind of clubhead speed before; it's a 'Cool' feeling."

Richie Bassett, an up and coming PGA player of the future, said "My tendency is to not finish the swing, and after swinging this, (my swing) went so far around that I almost went over backwards; I've never been in that position before, it just frees up the whole body."

And one of the best comments is from Cindy Yablonowski, who said

"The instant gratification is such a plus with the Powerchute. I used it for just a few minutes and immediately felt the "lag" that we all hear about. That seemed to put me in a position to hit the ball farther and straighter with such balance. For the first time I was able to consistently hit solid shots with my irons from the fairway. I just swing it a few times before I go out to play so I can remember that "lag" feeling. It's something I'll use forever just to keep my swing in check."

Now none of these people are PGA pros.

They are normal golfers, just like you.

All they did was decide to put their cynicism aside and give the PowerChute a fair chance to live up to the science.

So now you may be wondering how much does it cost?

Now, before I tell you that, let's quickly consider how much you'd need to spend on the alternatives.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

Lessons with a coach will cost you between one or two hundred dollars, if not more. But remember that a coach can only give you advice. They can't swing the club for you.

They also can't prime your fast-twitch muscles with explosive power, ready to be released and to send the ball looping into the distance and setting you up for an easy birdie.

You could spend hundreds of dollars, if not thousands, on lessons and never gain a single yard. The PowerChute, on the hand, is PROVEN to add yards to your game and slash points from your handicap.

Another option is to upgrade your clubs. I know you'd love the excuse to buy this season's new driver with trajectory control, speed holes or whatever new clever sounding gimmick they've come up with.

But remember, spending $200, $500 or even $1000 on a new driver isn't going to make any difference unless your body is working in the right way.

Let's be clear, lessons and clubs are both expensive options with no guarantee of success.

Whereas the PowerChute is guaranteed to add 20 yards to your drives and for a lot less investment.

Stop for a second and just imagine what a difference it could make to your scorecard to be able to consistently gain 20 yards on every drive.

If you're a beginner, you'll be able to watch rapid improvements in your skills and scorecard like never before.

If you're an experienced golfer, you'll be able to immediately break through whatever glass ceiling is blocking you and take your A game to a whole new level.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

This is all possible because when you can drive hard and long you instantly gain the upper hand on any hole. Because it can put you within lobbing distance of the green or a solid iron away from your next birdie.

Another advantage is you can start using shorter, easier to handle clubs from further away. This means, with your added power, you can treat 150 yarders like chip shots and be nailing the ball with your seven iron while your opponents hack away with their four.

In fact, such will be the improvement in your game, don't be surprised if your golf buddies are convinced you're using a fake ball.

None of what I'm saying is fantasy.

Remember, the PowerChute is proven in both sports science and independent testing. It works.

So you see when you compare it to the alternatives, the PowerChute's manufacturers could easily justify selling the PowerChute for around the same price bracket because of the massive improvement it can have on your game. I'm certain a lot of my students would be really happy to pay several hundred dollars and save on hours of lesson time.

However, my goal when I made the PowerChute was to help ALL players to drive harder and more accurately, and not just the rich ones. I want you to get his PowerChute out there as the best swing training aid there is that offers the absolute best improvements for everyone. Not just PGA pros, long drive competitors and ex-champions like Jack Nicklaus.

Because DELETE - [I have strong connections with the manufacturers of the PowerChute, and because] I'm able to cut out the middleman department store or pro shop, I've been able to get a special discount price that's a lot less than the three hundred dollars the PowerChute should cost. In fact, I can sell it to you for not even two hundred dollars.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Because I want to thank you for spending your valuable time watching this video and because I know that you're still here you are clearly interested in gaining 20 yards or more on your drives and to land them with pinpoint accuracy, I've put together a special, internet only, price offer for you. And it's not even one hundred dollars either.

Today I'd like to offer you a revolutionary new PowerChute swing trainer for just one easy payment of $97.00.

That's right, for less than the cost of a single lesson, you can gain this revolutionary swing training device that preloads your muscles with explosive power and adds 20 yards to every drive.

And here's the best part. When people see me coaching students with the PowerChute and see how effective it is they often ask me where they can buy one.

In fact, this includes one well known PGA player you'll recognise from television. Who, out of respect for their desire to keep their new training technique a secret, I won't mention their name here. After getting one he came to me a few days later telling me how much of an impact it had on his game.

His gain in yards was so significant he said that he'd started using it before every round. He even asked if he could buy some more PowerChutes to share with other players.

So, that being said, I want to offer you an even bigger discount when you stock up and buy a few PowerChutes. When you choose to invest in a multipack, I'm going to give you an additional sizeable discount on top of today's already reduced price.

However there is one catch. I'm only able to guarantee the PowerChute at these prices until their current inventory runs out.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

Website: <http://copywriterscrucible.com>

Email: matt@copywriterscrucible.com

The PowerChute has only been manufactured in limited quantities, as it was only supposed to be a niche product for players committed to hitting the hardest drives possible. So as stocks run low, inevitably its makers will reevaluate the big discounts they're able to give me.

So I encourage you to stock up on the PowerChute today for maximum savings. That way every time you pull the PowerChute from your bag you will be pulling it out at a discount.

I've been able to put this special internet only price offered together to earn your business. Because I know once you try the PowerChute and see the dramatic improvement it will have on your swing, you'll be eager to buy any other golf training aids I discover in the future.

And to make the offer even sweeter for you, I can sell you the PowerChute completely risk free. You are totally protected by a sixty day no questions asked money back guarantee. If you're not absolutely thrilled by the results you experience simply return the PowerChute within sixty days I will promptly issue you a full refund with no questions asked and no hard feelings.

Just contact the phone number provided when you order to contact their customer support staff. Or send them an email at the address provided. I would never make this guarantee if I wasn't absolutely certain you're going to love the PowerChute. In fact I stake my reputation as an award winning golf coach on it.

So click on the link below to give the PowerChute a try today. When you do you'll be taken to a secure server which is encrypted with the latest SSL to our 228 bit security for your total protection.

Simply enter your order information and I will rush your PowerChute to you by express shipping. Or if you prefer to order by phone simply call the ordering number on the next screen, and tell the customer service representative that you are calling for Tom Celone's PowerChute internet only price offer.

Many have asked me if they could get this offer by picking up the PowerChute at a Pro shop or golf department store. Unfortunately as this is an internet only price offer, you won't find the PowerChute with such high discounts sold in a bricks and mortar outlet due to the additional overheads they have to add to the retail price.

The Copywriter's Crucible Ltd

So please order online or by phone.

Now as I said before, there is one little catch to this internet offer. At this moment in time supplies of the PowerChute are limited. DELETE - [The makers have informed me that] Due to fast rising demand, their stock of the PowerChute is limited. Meaning there's only so many PowerChutes to go around right now.

That's exactly why I need your help spreading the word about this great swing training aid. Because once demand takes off they'll be able to ramp up production and produce a big enough supply so even more players can benefit from it.

Now because you're watching this presentation, that means they most likely have supplies still in stock. When you click on the link below. If you see the secure order page that means you are in luck. However that may not last long as once their current supply runs out it can take up to three months to get a new one. That's why if you're still undecided I urge you not to wait and take the chance on missing out.

Remember if you try the PowerChute and aren't 100% satisfied, you have the protection of an iron clad 60 day guarantee to get your money back. Otherwise if you miss out on this opportunity today I can virtually promise you this same offer will not be available once word gets out.

In the meantime you may continue to struggle to gain even 5 yards on your drives, let alone 15 or 20. In my experience of coaching, I know with one hundred percent certainty that you will never gain yards like this so quickly with other swing aids or spending long hours hitting balls on the driving range. Your game will never improve you'll never make progress on reducing your handicap without developing explosive power.

[insert slide]

As you may know already, when you can't drive long distances and accuracy, it really does affect your entire game. When your driving sucks, you're always at risk of dropping shots immediately from going into hazards or not being within pitching distance of the green.

And when you can't drive like your golfing buddies, it damages your confidence and damages your enjoyment of the entire round. Maybe you've got used to playing like this and close to given up on getting any better. But there is truly no reason for that.

There's no reason for you to keep feeling frustrated about your game of golf. Or to stress out over a problem that is now correctable. Thanks to this revolutionary new swing aid, you can be on the road to getting more power, precision and satisfaction from your drives right now. By simply clicking the button below and trying the PowerChute today at absolutely no risk.

With the PowerChute, you can actually add 10, 15 or 20 yards to your drives with just a few practice swings. It really is the most revolutionary swing trainer I've ever seen and the best available on the market. Wouldn't it be amazing to fasttrack the improvements in your game without the cost of lessons, new clubs or hours of wasted time?

So you have a decision to make.

You can continue to spend hour after hour on the driving range, getting frustrated at your lack of progress, risk injury and ruin your driving accuracy with weighted clubs or spend thousands of dollars on lessons and new drivers, desperately trying to get 5 or 10 extra yards on your drives, let alone 15 or 20.

Or you can take advantage of the PowerChute and see for yourself how the one of a kind swing training device harnesses the latest advances in sports sciences, plyometrics and resistance training to consistently add explosive power to your drives and enables you to start shredding points from your handicap.

Being a powerful and accurate driver was a skill shared by game's the all time greats.

Greg Norman, Jack Nicklaus and Tiger Woods in his heyday were all able to dominate tournaments because of the immediate advantage their drives gave them.

And let's be honest, stepping up and smashing balls that get serious airtime is one of the game's great pleasures. It always gives you a buzz of adrenaline to see the ball disappearing into the distance from the sheer power of your swing, while you bask in the applause from your teammates and grudging respect from your rivals.

Remember, all it takes is a few practice swings with the PowerChute for it to load fast-twitch fueled explosive power into your muscles so you can tear the cover off the ball when you drive.

Just imagine stepping up to the first tee with a newfound confidence of the power you have in your swing. Then stepping up in front of your golf buddies and launching a massive powershot that sets you up for an easy 9 onto the green. Just imagine the look of shock on their faces and wonderment at how you got so much better so fast.

That would be really something, wouldn't it?

You'll enjoy playing golf like never before and look forward to surprising your fellow players every time you drive off the tee, or even with your long irons on the fairway.

Okay if you're still here it's probably because you have some questions.

So I want to take a moment to answer some of the most common questions I get asked on a daily basis about the PowerChute.

What is the PowerChute exactly?

The PowerChute is a revolutionary swing trainer I developed using my knowledge of strength and flexibility training and experience in long drive championships.

DELETE = [by Jim Sowerwine, who's famous in golf coaching circles for creating the 'Slice Correction Trainer', which was voted Swing Trainer of the Year by Golf Digest].

I first developed the PowerChute to help long distance drive competitors warmup. It proved so successful and was so popular with competitors, that I decided to make it available to all players.

How does the PowerChute work?

The PowerChute creates swing resistance that 'primes' your fast twitch muscles. Then when you swing without the PowerChute, you add 8 mph or more to your swing, which translates to an extra 10, 15 or even 20 yards on your drives.

The PowerChute also improves your accuracy by pulling your arms through the optimum swing motion.

What are the main benefits of the PowerChute?

1. Gain 20 yards on every drive in minutes - A few practice swings is all it takes to prime your fast twitch muscles with explosive power. You then gain up to 20 yards on every drive.
2. Consistently hit further - In tests the PowerChute increased yards for 100% of participants. It works.
3. Keep the ball in play more often - You'll be hitting it further and straighter down the fairway. The only danger is hitting it too far.
4. Eliminate slices and hooks - The PowerChute's patented design gently pushes your arms through the perfect swing, avoiding the errors that come from weighted training aids.
5. Results in minutes, not months - Instead of dreary hours in the gym, you can prime your fast twitch muscles in minutes. A few swings is all it takes!
6. Tough courses become easier to play - You'll be able to turn par 5s into birdie chances and 150 yarders into pitch shots.
7. Hear the swoosh more clearly - Hearing the swoosh is one of the clearest indications you're swinging smoothly. The PowerChute makes this more noticeable, improving your consistency.
8. Finally break 90 - You'll be able to hit further with shorter clubs. just imagine being able to use your 8 iron from 180 yards while your buddies are missing repeatedly with their 5 iron.
9. Reduced injury risk - Avoid the risk of muscle strain or bad back from using weighted clubs (particularly important if you're senior player).

10. Save money - Instead of sending $1,000s on clubs and lessons, you'll be gaining 20 yards with your existing skill level and clubs
 11. Lower handicap - You gain improvements overnight that will shred points from your scorecard and your handicap on your next round
 12. Real sense of power - Weighted clubs can give you the false sense of power. With the PowerChute, the increase in mph and distance are proven and real.
 13. Impress your golf buddies - The improvement in your game will be so incredible your buddies will think you're using a fake ball.
 14. Greater enjoyment of every round - When you can drive further and accurately, the game naturally becomes easier and more enjoyable. It becomes a great source of pleasure in your life, rather than a frustration.
