If you yearn to spring out of bed...

Leap down the stairs with barely a twitch of joint pain...

Power through the day with the vim and vigor of your youth...

And have a smoother complexion to match...

You'll be interested to know about a tree found in a misty Himalayan valley.

A tree whose leaves a team (which includes Harvard researchers) has verified contains compounds that "accelerate anti-aging at a cellular level".

The tree was found in a place where men do back breaking farm work into their 70s...

And women hike up and down treacherous mountain paths fetching milk and supplies...

Yet always with a smile and a spring in their step.

In fact, the people are so energetic and youthful The Economic Times called it one of the "happiest states in India."

And this mysterious tree explains why.

Because an analysis of its leaves revealed they contain:

- 48+ of nature's most powerful antioxidants (for scrubbing the body clean of inflammatory toxins).
- Trace elements that reduce joint pain nearly HALF (for long walks with YOU marching in front)
- A squad of compounds that plummets blood sugar 21% (so you can dig into a bowl of pasta without also hopping aboard the energy rollercoaster).
- A molecule that TURNS ON the body's collagen factory for a vast reduction in wrinkles (Could this be J. Lo's secret to looking half her age at the Super Bowl?)

With so many anti-aging wonders, it's no surprise local villagers call it the 'Miracle Tree'.

But its "youthing" gifts may not be available for long.

Because now the word is out, everyone is rushing to secure their supply.
