SL3: Sardinian nutrient boosts memory 44%

Do you forget people's names, suffer embarrassing midconversation brain freezes and struggle to focus at work?

Well, a slowing brain isn't necessarily due to aging... but due to decay of the brain's "neural mesh".

The good news is that Stanford scientists have discovered a nutrient that repairs the brain's neural mesh like "Nature's duct tape".

In fact, eating this nutrient was found to boost memory 44%... and even gave subjects the mental sharpness of people 12 years younger.
